Extreme hot weather warning- UPDATE INFORMATION!

Dear Parents and Carers,

Since writing my letter to you earlier this morning the weather warning for some parts of England has already changed to a red weather warning. An amber weather warning is still in place for South East Wales; this also carries risks for young children and those that are vulnerable.

As we all know the weather forecast can change very quickly so hopefully this updated information will help take away some of uncertainly for you.

Over the weekend, if the weather warning for our area changes to RED then we will implement remote learning for all pupils (for Monday). We will then review the situation for Tuesday and update you as soon as possible.

We will update you via our Teachers2Parents texting service and Seesaw. We will also update our school website.

We will also need to consider what happens if the extreme heat changes during the course of the school day. As mentioned in my previous letter, classrooms are already hot at this time of the year. We will need to monitor temperatures to ensure they are appropriate for pupils and staff; it might be necessary to make changes to our arrangements during the school day. If this is the case, we will work closely with you and transport to ensure all children get home safely.

Again, I fully understand that some of you will have concerns about the extreme temperatures that are forecast for next week. If you do decide not to send your child into school, please inform your child's transport and let us know so that their absence can be recorded appropriately.

Your support and understanding is very much appreciated.

Please keep safe,

I. Elliott
